

Paul English

HUMA 1100-012

Derek Bitter

February 17, 2013

Reflection Journal #5 - Christianity

1 What evidence or references are there that Jesus is the Messiah?

In the Christian canon references to Jesus Christ as the Messiah include his virgin birth from Mary, the references to family descendance of the throne of David and the house of Jacob, they include the prophecies that many of the relatives had relating to Christ's noble birth, as well the stories of resurrection and miracles which Christ performed.

Christ was written as a very holy and wise person, who always taught his followers the right path over the traditions and assumptions which they had practiced for quite some time.

His life is described as the fulfillment of the old law which was brought forth by Moses in the Old Testament. He offered a newer standard that the people should follow, which represents a part of his messianic calling.